

Dear Members of the Promotion Committee:

I am pleased to write with strong support of Dr. Vlad Veksler for promotion to the rank of Associate Professor. He is a dedicated, creative, and highly collegial faculty member who consistently demonstrates a strong commitment to our students, School of Business and Computer Science, and Caldwell University.

Dr. Veksler is always willing to assist others and frequently takes the lead on important projects. I have personally benefited from his technological expertise and his readiness to provide support whenever challenges arise. His contributions extend well beyond his regular responsibilities, particularly through his leadership of faculty development activities. These efforts have helped colleagues strengthen their teaching practices, expand their technological skills, and remain engaged with new ideas and resources.

He is also a thoughtful and solutions-oriented colleague. He not only identifies problems but also proposes practical ways to address them. His calm and respectful approach helps maintain collegiality and cooperation, especially when differing perspectives arise.

Dr. Veksler is equally committed to student success. Students appreciate his approachable manner, encouragement, and genuine interest in their academic and professional development. He always motivates them to participate in both internal and external learning opportunities, conferences including hackathons and other experiential activities that strengthen their technical, collaborative, and problem-solving skills.

His record of teaching, service, leadership, and collegial engagement makes him a valuable member of Caldwell University. I am delighted to have him as a colleague and consider myself fortunate to work alongside someone so dedicated, supportive, and collegial. Therefore; I strongly recommend Dr. Veksler for promotion to Associate Professor without hesitation.

Warm Regards,
